Local Legion Holds Memorial Service

Large Attendance at the Cemetery for the Occasion.

About forty members of the local Legion, accompanied by a number of comrades from Medicine Hat, and headed by Mr. Hosie's pipe band, marched to the cemetery last Sunday after noon where there annual memorial service was held.

A large number of citizens had gathered at the cemetery for the occasion and all were much impressed with the service.

Familiar hymns were sung and addresses given by Rev. R. E. Pow and Rev. J. F. Cox.

Mr. Pow drew attention to the changed times in which we are now living when nations the world over were embued with the spirit of peace. "But even in the atmosphere of peace," he said, "we must not forget" the many great sacrifices that had been made for those of us who are enjoying peace and plenty now." The sacrifices which were made were inspired by the spirit of the cross; the spirit that prompts men to suffer and die in the cause of what they believe to be right. That same spirit which prompts the religious impulse is also needed in times of peace.

Mr. Cox based his remarks on the passage "Righteousness alone Exalteth a Nation." He pointed out that the Church was in deadly warfare against Sin and asked the question: "What are we as individuals, heads of families, members of Churches and communities doing to help thechurch in its mission" The bible's reference to nations also applied to individuals. Unless we are as individuals were playing our part to create unity, peace and concord in the church, the home and the community we were but retarding that national and international peace and good will for which all nations were Striving at the present time.

To promote that national right eousness which exalteth a nation and for which 60,000 Canadians gave their lives, we must be able to say in very surity: "We are not divided, all one body we."

At the conclusion of the service wreaths were placed on the graves of departed comrades and piper Hosie played "The Flowers of the Forest."

Govt., Pools and Bank Agreement on Grain

Now Have Understanding Re Handling Grain.

[redacted] understanding now prevails between the Governments of the three prairie provinces. the Dominion Government the Wheat Pool officials and the banks in regard to the balance of the 1929 crop undelivered to terminals on August 1 and as to the handling of the 1930 crop, declared Premier J. E. Brownlee on Monday, back at his office after a month's combined holiday and business trip East. He also stated that the recent conferences on Wheat Pool matters had been largely the result of misunderstanding, a matter which had been cleared up o the satisfaction of all by means of the round table conferences.

Two Town Teams Tie For The League Cup

Bricks Win From Legion By Three goals to none.

By a three to nothing score the Brick & Coal team defeated the Legion here last Tuesday evening thus tieing the Town team in the race for the coveted cup.

The Legion did not field a full team but even with this handicap they put up a good game although at no time were they considered dangerous as the Bricks got a two goal lead in the first 23 minutes of play which they held till half time. These goals were scored by Lawson and Dutton after nice work ins and accurate passing. In this half the Bricks had much the best of the play.

One minute after the second half started Lawson scored again for Bricks but from this on nobody except the players knew much about how the game was going as it was too dark for spectators to follow the ball.

There was considerable complaining about expecting two bits to see half a game. The visitors did not arrive on the field till 6:45 and it was then quite dark. At this season of the year games should be started not later than 6:15 and teams should be penalized for not being on time. Indee it has been suggested that the final games be played Saturday afternoon as most industries would be closed.

The Liberals now have a majority of 4 in the senate. This was Hon. McKenzie King's way of reforming the Senate which he promised during the 1926 general election Campaign.

There were two acclamations which had there been a contest would have increased the total vote by approximately another 18,000.

Instructions For "Peony Day" Planting

Issued by the Director of Town Planning.

Horace L. Seamour, director of Town Planning, is sending advising secretaries of U. F. A. locals, Women's Institutes and Horticultural Societies. In a letter just issued he says:

In our circular of July 25th, you were advised that the date October 1st, was endorsed by the Provincial Town and Rural Planning Advisory Board as "Peony Day"— a day suitable for the Province wide planting of peony roots.

We have already received notice of endorsation of the suggestion from a number of organizations, and we also have other information which indicates that such suggestion is being favorably received.

It has been brought to our attention, however, that our circular of July 25th did not reach a number of organizations in time for their August meetings. Therefore, we again remind you of "Peony Day". In the original circular an 'early date for the receipt of orders was suggested s, that the Nurseries might have plenty of time to fill orders. Under the circumstances arrangements have been made so that orders for peony roots may be received up tilll September 10th, and possibly even later.

Popular named varieties are:

Edulis Superba— bright pink, early bloom.

Felix Crousse— dark red, late bloom.

Here and There

(606)

"We are quite satisfied with the showing of the British teams at the Empire Games just concluded at Hamilton, Ont. for we picked up quite a lot of honors, and if I may say so, made a very creditable showing," was the statement of R. T. Britten, in charge of the swimmers who hung up several new marks at the meeting. He thought the Games would be of incalculable value to the Empire as a whole since they brought all parts of it together at one time and one place.

The maiden voyage of the new Canadian Pacific flagship of the Pacific, the Empress of Japan, from Yokohama to Victoria, was completed in eight days, six hours and 23 minutes, beating the Empress of Canada record for the run, established in 1918, by four hours and thirty minutes. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the railway company wired congratulations to Captain E. Aikman, general superintendent of the Company's Pacific steamship fleet. Records also fell on the Atlantic when the company's liner Duchess of York travelled between Greenock, Scotland, and Quebec City in 5 days, 17 hours and 30 minutes, even bettering the time hung up by the Duchess of Richmond on her previous trip from Belfast to Quebec, which is a hundred miles shorter.

Speaking at a banquet given by the Saint John Board of Trade to inaugurate the service of the new Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Maime, on the Saint John-Digby route, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the railway, said he thought Canada would respond more quickly than other countries, even wealthier than herself, to measures taken by responsible governments and large industrial organizations to alleviate unemployment. He added that in his opinion the Maritime Provinces were particularly favorably placed in this respect.

Quiet Session of Council Monday

Fire Committee Report Re-organization of Brigade.

A quiet session of the town Council was held last Monday evening. Mayor Worts was in the chair and the following councillors present, Messrs. Shaw, Dacre, Champ, Cox, & Campeau.

A letter was read from C. T. Hall offering $30. for air tank in the old Redcliff Garage. The mater was referred to the building committee to investigate.

The regular monthly account were approved for payment.

Mr. Wigingeer was authorized to repair house west of glass plant, belonging to town, and move into same and that he be allowed rent to the amount of repairs.

The fire committee reported that the brigade had re-organized and officers appointed also that arrangements had been made for practices.

On motion of Councillors Cox and Shaw the firemen were ordered paid for practice and the action of the fire committee endorsed.

Constable Kitchen reported that several chicken houses, garages and stables were situated on town property and used by citizens who lived near by, without any rental being paid for same.

Mrs. N. Dacre received this week from England a fine collection of pictures of Sir Henry Segrave and his speed boat Miss England II, taken just before and after the fatal accident which befell Sir Henry in his trial trip on Lake Windermere. The scenes are very familiar to Mr. Dacre as he spent his younger days in the vicinity of Windermere lake.

Cause Of Our Economic Ills

Anything and everything that will have even the slightest effect in removing causes of friction between nations on the one hand, or of promoting goodwill on the other hand, should to an ever increasing degree receive the support of every government, every organization, every individual. There is danger as we get farther and farther away from the agony of the war years, 1914-1918, and as the horrors of that grim struggle begin to fade and become indistinct in our memories, to forget just how awful war really is.

It is well, therefore, to be occasionally reminded of what the Great War continues to mean to us today, twelve years after it passed into history. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose outstanding characteristics in all his public speeches is his clear incisiveness, unswayed by hysteria or undue sentiment, gave a radio talk recently in which he pleaded for world peace, and for the putting forth of every effort to attain that object.

Despite Mr. Snowden's well known pacific tendencies, he dealt only with the mere dollars and cents aspect of war as an agent of destruction. Taking the case of Great Britain, he pointed out that it had spent some 50,000 million dollars on its part in the Great War. This was apart from the loss of the wealth-producing capacity of millions of men drawn for four years from useful employment, and, of course took no cognizance of the loss of life.

The war, as Mr. Snowden pointed out, left Great Britain with a debt of over thirty-five billions of dollars, the interest on which alone costs one and three-quarter billions a year. It all has to come out of taxation.

At the present rate of payment, Mr. Snowden added, it will take 140 years to wipe it out. Today the British people are raising $5,000,000 every day, $200,000 every hour, $3,000 every minute for debt purposes. It takes the whole-time labor of 2,000,000 workers year in and year out to pay the annual cost of the nation's burden of debt. To this must be added $575,000,000 which Britain annually spends on war services, and $280,000,000 it pays yearly for war pensions, which gives a total of $2,800,000,000—$5,000 a minute,—which Great Britain has to provide for war purposes.

Such stupendous figures throw Mr. Snowden's main point into bold relief. "It passes the power of the most imaginative mind," he said, "to conceive what prosperity and happiness could be added to the world if the resources wasted by war could have been used for the advancement of human wealth." But even the least imaginative mind must realize from the figures that now is the time for all good men and women the world over to ponder the folly of preparing for another war.

The great economic ills from which the world is suffering today,—and from which Canada unfortunately is not free,—could all be overcome if the huge amounts raised by taxation to pay war debts could be diverted into constructive channels, not to mention what might have been done had the enormous principal sum expended during the war itself been devoted to improving world conditions in all countries.

If the money spent waging war, by Britain alone, had, instead, been devoted to great constructive national programmes, there would have been no unemployment in Britain. Everybody would have been busy during the past twelve years, and everybody would be hard at work now. The whole standard of living in Britain would have been raised; housing and all social conditions would be on a higher plane than ever in the world's history.

And what would have been true of Great Britain would be equally true of all countries, Canada included. It is easy to blame war for the high cost for unemployment, depressed business conditions, failing markets, and sundry other ills to this cause and that cause, and to lay the blame here or there, but the basic cause is the war, and the huge burden it has imposed on all peoples and on every constructive, progressive movement that the peoples of the world, in their several countries, are making to carry on.

Campaigning for world peace is not a fad, nor the mere business of the idealist. It is the hardest headed business proposition confronting the world today. In its success is bound up the future welfare of every worker, every man and woman, the future of their children and children's children,—indeed their very lives. Only through the achievement and maintenance of world peace can the present economic ills of the world be remedied.

A Clock That Speaks

Combination Radio and Electric Phonograph Is Result Of Experiment

After considerable experimentation, an inventor has produced a clock that speaks the time. The instrument consists of a combination talking clock, radio and electric phonograph all installed in a grandfather case. The clock not only speaks the hours and half hours, but also may be made to tell the time in the form of a cheerful greeting, such as "Good morning—six o'clock." The cabinet contains an electric radio receiver with dynamic speaker which is used for the talking clock voice, the radio, and the phonograph reproduction.

Good Roads In Ireland

Country Carrying Out Reconstruction Program Every Year

During the past five years, twenty-seven miles of concrete road have been laid in County Antrim. The programme which has been followed, has been the reconstruction of about five miles per annum of the worst sections of the heaviest trafficked road. During 1929, several of these sections have been linked up, and by the end of the year there will be one section seventeen miles long. This will be the longest stretch of continuous concrete road in the British Isles.

Manitoba Water Power

Claimed That Bulk Of Water Power In Prairie Provinces Located In Manitoba

The considerable power resources of the Province of Manitoba are estimated at 5,000,000 h.p., of which 308,000 h.p. already are in operation. It is claimed that 72 per cent. of all the water power resources in the prairie provinces are situated in Manitoba. The Winnipeg River power sites are estimated to be sufficient to provide for a population of 2,000,000 in Winnipeg and to provide employment for 300,000 industrial workers. This power will turn out products worth in the neighborhood of a billion dollars every year.

Present Low Prices No Cause For Despondency To Pool Members

In the editorial columns of the Alberta Farmer, dated July 10, 1930, reference is made to the fact that in spite of the existing depression in the wheat market, Pool members are not despondent. We quote from the editorial:

"On the contrary, when they look back to pre-Pool days they congratulate themselves that the Pool is functioning in this year of low prices. And they shiver when they think to what depths wheat prices might have gone had there been no Pool."

Pale People Are In Peril

Some Form Of Nervous Breakdown Always Threatens Them

Pale people are almost always nervous. Paleness denotes lack of blood and too little blood usually results in jaded nerves, sleeplessness, headaches or neuralgia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are different from most other medicines—it is impossible to take them and not feel better. Their whole mission is to make rich, red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives vitality to the whole body. Concerning them Mrs. G. Cook, Bloor Street, Toronto, says: "Two years ago I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a nervous breakdown with the result that I have been well and strong ever since."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Experiments In Television

Broadcasting Of a Play In English Not a Complete Success

For the first time in England the Baird system of television was supplied to the public, although still in the experimental stage, with the broadcasting of a play by the British Broadcasting Corporation. The piece chosen was Luigi Pirandello's "The Man With a Flower in His Mouth."

The London Times assigned its regular dramatic critic to review the television production and in his review he said:

"Let it be admitted at once that plays by television are as yet a subject for men of science and not for critics of the finer points of acting. The visual transmission is far from perfect. You feel yourself prying through a keyhole at some swaying, dazzling exhibition of the first film ever made. But if the process has still a long way to go before every member of the British Broadcasting Corporation is fully satisfied by seeing and hearing plays in his own library, the difficulties already overcome are many and remarkable."

The space in which the actors have their being is half a small cube, sliced diagonally by an effective plane of photo electric cells. The actor kept as close to the projector as a man with his head in a band box with his movements slow and deliberate. When another actor appeared a clear screen passed across the "stage" and the scenery provided by C. R. W. Nevison's drawings instead of a screen.

The television "stage" is perhaps the world's most intimate theatre, with the producer, L. De G. Sieveking, working in inches, where others work in yards. What its audience saw in television was an image of about postcard size of varying clearness. The London Times concludes its review by saying: "The men of the theatre may meanwhile rest in peace. The time for interest and curiosity is come, but the time for serious criticism of television plays as plays is not yet."

Gems Belonging To Nobility Lost In Airplane Crash

The London Daily Express says jewels valued at £65,000 (about $325,000), were scattered over the ground near Meopham, Kent, at the time of the recent aeroplane disaster in which six persons, including three of the nobility, perished.

The jewels in question belonged to the late Viscountess Edmam and the late Mrs. Liefler, both of whom were wearing pearl necklaces and diamond brooches.

Accidental discovery of a few gems by a villager reminded friends of the dead women that they had their jewelry with them. Police are searching around Meopham in the hope of finding others.

Exhibition Grain

Grain To Be Shown At World's Grain Show May Be Grown Any Year

There still seems to be a wrong impression in some parts of Canada regarding the year in which grain for exhibit at the World's Grain Show may be grown, says a bulletin of the show executive. It is well, therefore, to repeat that there is absolutely no restriction whatever regarding the season in which grain for exhibit is grown.

It may have been or may be grown in any year. Of course, because all exhibits must be in the hands of the exhibition authorities at Regina on or before March 1, 1932, it will be impossible to grow Canadian grain for exhibition in 1932. Canadian grain for exhibit therefore, if not already grown, must be grown either this season or during the season of 1931.

World's Largest Aerial Fleet

Twenty-Six Airplanes Engaged In Aerial Work For Government

Twenty-six airplanes, working in thirteen detachments, are now engaged throughout Canada in aerial photography and surveying for the Canadian Government.

For the past few years Canada has been the leader in the work of taking photographs from the air for map making and in making aerial surveys of large areas of practically unexplored territory. This year's program of such work has the world's largest aerial photographic fleet on the task. Before the end of the season probably at least another hundred thousand square miles of country will be recorded on photographic negatives.

As in recent years the Forest Service of Canada will continue to carry on the work of forest fire protection in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, for the season of 1930, and for this purpose has arranged to continue the co-operative arrangements which it has had in the past with the Royal Canadian Air Force. In these three provinces the area over which the air patrol work is carried on approximates 100,000,000 acres, of which a large portion is unmapped. For this purpose 21 seaplanes and flying boats will operate to detect and suppress forest fire outbreaks. These machines will be capable of carrying greater loads than in other years and their better performance should add greatly to the efficiency of fire-fighting operations.

Of the thirteen detachments engaged in aerial photography and surveying one is operating in British Columbia; one in Alberta; four in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, the Northwest Territories; four in Ontario and Quebec; one in the Maritime Provinces; one has been assigned to special transportation work such as carrying surveyors, explorers and other officials into accessible regions, and another to the exploration and photography of the main aerial routes in the Far North. The experience of the last few years has shown that at least for many years aerial transportation will be almost the sole means of communication throughout these vast and little-known areas. The exploration of safe-flying routes is, therefore, regarded as one of the first considerations towards opening up this country.

Furriers Use Cat Skins

Demand In London Results In Loss Of Household Pets

English folk are mourning the mysterious disappearance of pet cats, and it is all because Dame Fashion has decided that every well-dressed woman must possess a fur coat. Those with small purses cannot afford ermine mink, and so a cheap fur has had to be found to meet the situation. The cat poachers creep round the streets looking for stray cats. When they find a victim, it is chloroformed, pushed into a sack and then taken to their clearing station. There the unfortunate animals are killed and skinned, and their skins are taken off to the dealer. The West End of London has been the chief area for the poacher's activities, but now reports of the strange disappearance of cats are coming in from all parts of the country. So cat owners should be on their guard lest their pets, too, are spirited away by poachers.

Was Adam a Chinaman?

Scientists claim discovering further evidence that Adam and Eve were Chinese, and that the Garden of Eden is to be found in Central Asia. This is based upon reports from Dr. Davidson Black, of the Peking Union Medical College, that he has unearthed skulls having jaws and teeth of men who very likely lived 500,000 years ago in the pre-Neolithic days.

The Old-Time Doctor

Medical Fees and Prices Of Operations Show Little Change In Last 100 Years

Proof that medical fees and the price of operations have changed very little in the last 100 years in Canada is contained in the interesting tariffs of medical fees for the years 1839, 1855, 1874, recently on exhibit at the Ontario Medical Association convention.

A schedule of medical fees adopted at a meeting of the medical profession at the hospital in Toronto on February 14, 1839, quotes the minimum doctor's fee in the daytime at 5 shillings, or approximately $1.25. Pulling teeth was extra. Each extraction cost 2 shillings, 6 pence, about 62 cents extra. In addition, a doctor could charge 5 shillings a mile travelling expenses for country cases.

The mileage was to be computed from the market buildings in Toronto. Bleeding, then common, also was the same price as the extraction of a tooth. A major operation cost £10, or $50, and a minor operation brought fees of from $5 to $15.

From 9 a.m. to sunset, in 1885, fees were settled at $2 maximum, and $1 minimum. But after sunset the physician could charge anywhere from $2 to $8. He got from $40 to $200 for a major operation, and from $2 to $40 for a minor.

Invited Guest Admitted To Restaurant But Host Excluded

A short time ago an ex-New Yorker, returning from some years abroad, decided to revisit some of the haunts of his youth, among others a small Italian restaurant downtown where he remembered getting delicious spaghetti. He telephoned an old friend, gave the address and description of the restaurant as it had been when he knew it, and arranged to meet there for dinner. On reaching the place, however, he found it strangely changed; the house grim-looking, the windows heavily curtained, the entrance apparently downstairs. He rang the bell and the door opened out at him, and an unfortunate scene ensued, in which the gentleman expostulated, told of past days there, described the old proprietor—all to no avail; the door slammed shut again. He hurried back to his hotel, to telephone his friend, apologize, and arrange another meeting place. It was not, however, until nearly midnight that his friend responded, explaining that he had been waiting in the restaurant, wining and dining, all that time. "But how did you get in?" the other demanded. "Why, I just gave your name," the friend explained, in surprise. "They let me right in."—New Yorker.

Building the Silo

Details Of Construction Of Three Types Of Silos Now Available

"In building a good silo the principal points to be considered are: The walls should be impervious, strong, smooth, and wind resistant observes the architect of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Attention should also be given to such points as durability, convenience, appearance, resistance to fire and frost, simplicity in construction, and low cost—both initial and upkeep. There are three principal types of silo—the monolithic concrete, the stave and the scantling, and their construction presents no particular difficulties. Complete specifications and detailed instructions with respect to the construction of silos of these types are available without charge in pamphlet No. 118 (New Series)...now available through the Publication Branch of the Department at Ottawa.

Poem Became Famous

Mrs. Rose Hartwick Thorpe of San Diego, California, author of the famous poem "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," celebrated her 80th birthday on July 18. Mrs. Thorpe wrote the poem when she was 16 years old. It was first published in 1870. The editor wrote to her saying he could not pay for her verses, but that he would offer her a year's subscription to his newspaper. The poem met with instant favor and was reprinted throughout the country.

Rust Research

Plant Pathologist From England Will Devote Year To Investigation Work In Canada

W. A. R. Dillon-Weston, M.A., advisory plant pathologist of the School of Agriculture, sailed from England for Canada, to spend a year with headquarters at the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory at the M.A.C.

Mr. Dillon-Weston's exchange with Dr. J. H. Craigie is made possible by the assistance of the research committee of the British Empire Marketing Board.

On arrival in Canada, Mr. Dillon-Weston will visit the various plant pathology laboratories and the experimental farms in the east, and will be the guest, for a time, of Dr. Archibald at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and will then come on to Winnipeg where he will study the work done by the laboratory here in connection with the stem rusts of wheat and the breeding of rust-resistant wheats.

Mr. Dillon-Weston is widely known for his investigational work in the general field of plant pathology and more especially in connection with his work on stinking smut on wheat.

He has, for a considerable time, been associated with Sir Henry Hiffen, known the world over for his work in plant pathology, and who is the recognized leader in pioneer work in regard to stem rusts of wheat.

The faculty of the Dominion Research laboratory here are looking forward with keen pleasure to meeting Mr. Dillon-Weston and hope to make his year in Canada as interesting to him as they feel assured Dr. Craigie's year will be in Great Britain.—Free Press.

Pure Swank

The Days Of the Monocle Are About Over

Monocles, long the trade mark of the stage Englishman, are rapidly disappearing in their homeland. One sees very few single glasses in Britain these days. They are worn mostly by college lads who use plain window glass, and by old-timers who acquired the habit back in the good old Victorian days and can't cast it off now. Ask the monocled one why he fosters this peculiar vanity and he will tell you that he has one bad eye. If you know him well, and press further, he'll admit it is pure swank.

Perils To Trees

Leakage of electric current from high-power transmission lines often causes serious injury to trees, according to department tree specialists. Another common type of injury to trees and shrubs is scorching or burning as a result of the plants being where whitewashed or light-colored walls reflect the heat of the sun. Other types of injury to trees are caused by dense shade or too intense sunlight.

A Radiant Impulse

Interesting Experiment Conducted At the Edmonton Exhibition

At the Edmonton Fair, Alberta, an interesting phenomenon of radio drew large crowds to the Journal Broadcasting Station of CJCA situated on the Midway. By placing one's hand in front of a small microphone, owing to the electrical capacity of the body, there was observed a curious action. A lighthouse lamp was immediately set alight, while a tiny electrical train began racing round on a small track. On the withdrawal of the hand the light went out and the train ceased.

Hundreds of people, and thousands of children made this remarkable experiment and demonstrated a profound truth regarding their own bodies of which they were doubtless unaware, the unconscious influence which each and everyone is capable of exerting.

Today the world is measuring its light and sound by wave lengths, and scientists are agreed that the healthy man and woman are in reality benefactors of mankind through the radiant impulses which emanate from a body attune to the laws of health harmony. But it works both ways, for while the strong, robust, wholesome person is a blessing to himself and others, so the sick and diseased are a positive danger all round, lowering the morale and creating a physical discord which is harmful to young and old alike. Disease is an invading force, and in the future to be sick will no doubt be reckoned as an offense against society and dealt with accordingly. On every hand one sees the gospel of prophylaxis or prevention is being published from the housetops, and taking the bull by the horns men are forcing the enemy to retire by maintaining their highest peak of health resistance to disease. The Red Cross of today has a great part in the health education of the young by the distribution of health literature, by lectures and radio talks in the province of Alberta.

Early Advertising

Roman Workman Had the Right Idea 1800 Years Ago

"Balbus made it." These words were stamped in Latin on a bright red potsherd which was found recently by workmen digging the foundations for a new building near London Bridge, London, England. They found the potsherd at the base of a Roman wall, with a Roman trowel, almost identical with a modern trowel beside it. Balbus was evidently one of the first men who perceived the value of advertising. "Balbus made it" has also been found on other Roman utensils. His advertising enterprise has preserved his name for 1800 years.

Adopt Pale-Face Son

Mark Poucette, Stony Indian brave and star performer at "Indian Days" celebrations at Banff, each July, and his wife, were heartbroken in 1914, for they had lost their three sons and were childless. The last of them, John Poucette, had been the particular pal of Dave White, son of a pioneer merchant of Banff, Dave White, Sr., who has been dealing with the Stony Indians for years and is highly respected by the tribe. In 1915 the bereaved Indian parents asked Mr. White if they might "share" his son. He agreed, and Mark Poucette, in a simple but touching ceremony, christened little Dave "John Mountain Stony" and declared "he now my boy too—he now my son." That was fifteen years ago and little Dave is now a grown man. He is shown in a magnificent head-dress, made by Mrs. Poucette, together with his foster-father, outside the Poucette's tepee.

A World Language

Theory That the Radio May Bring This About Is Discounted

The suggestion that the need of a world language has been given compelling impetus by the development of the radio is probably open to challenge. That a universal speech would aid universal peace has been widely recognized. The increasing number of international conferences, estimated now at 300 a year, ranging from "bicyclists to free thinkers," is possibly also accelerating the desire. Commerce, too, would be facilitated by the adoption of a common medium of communication.

But practical difficulties should not be overlooked. Linguistic amalgamation is something civilization has resisted for 10,000 years. The ancients travelled widely even what was then the known world without the necessity of first learning foreign tongues. Nor have closer contacts broken down the barriers. German persists in rural districts of Pennsylvania and French flourishes in Quebec. Grand opera is enjoyed on both sides of the Atlantic undisturbed by the annoyances which make high grammar and syntax often impose on the schoolroom. Bernhardt has been welcomed here by great audiences to whom her lines might as well have been spoken in Sanskrit.

These traditions will not be easily upset by the popularity of the radio. Habit is too firmly fixed. A cultured that starts in the cradle persists to the grave in more cases than it yields to intellectual adventure. Latin and Anglo-Saxon races may absorb from each other, but they do not coalesce. Compromises on artificial languages, like Esperanto are even less likely. We have made only slight headway in cosmopolitan-mindedness, and our cosmopolitan ear is still on the deaf side.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

May Sell Estate

Reported That Earl Of Egmont Has Decided To Dispose Of Avon Castle

Frederick George Treveylan, the rancher Earl of Egmont, has decided to sell not only Avon Castle, in Hants, the ancestral seat of the Earls of Egmont, but also the heirlooms, silver and pictures, which go with the estate. The reason for the proposed sale lies in the large death duties levied on the estate of his kinsman, the ninth earl, and the duties which his own estate must eventually be, states Lord Egmont in explanation.

It was only a few weeks ago that Frederick George Treveylan's right to the title and its properties was confirmed by a judge of the high court.

The earl says he will sell the movables first. "I want to see what I can raise on them and other properties before putting a price on the castle," he added.

The present and tenth Earl of Egmont succeeded to the title last year. He was formerly an Albertan rancher. His claim was contested by two persons, who traced descent from earlier earls, but the ninth earl, armed with the family tree, had designated the Albertan as his lawful heir and the high court upheld the present earl.

Women Direct Poultry Pool

Saskatchewan Poultry Pool Is Practically All-Feminine Organization

Farmers' wives boss the Saskatchewan Poultry Pool and the pin money they take in every 12 months is written in six figures.

The pool, an almost 100 per cent. all-feminine organization, is four years old, and last year took in a total of $730,000. There is only one man with his finger in the pie, and he is outnumbered if not suppressed.

In the last 12 months the business turnover of the pool included 26,840,184 eggs, or 2,236,682 dozen, valued at $540,000. Also included in the turnover were 823,743 pounds of dressed poultry, valued at $184,000, and 39,561 pounds of live poultry, worth $6,000.

The egg business increased in 1929 over 56 per cent., and the dressed poultry 61 per cent. over the previous year. The pool now handles about 75 per cent. of the entire production of eggs in the province of Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Bertha Holmes, of Asquith, Sask., is president of the organization, which is known officially as the Saskatchewan Co - operative Poultry Producers, Limited, and five farmers' wives are on the board of directors. Originally the pool was established by the women to provide them with pin money. Now they are buying automobiles on their earnings.

Beho!d—the Hen

Everyone Can Take a Lesson From the Industrious Barnyard Fowl

"Did you ever stop to think—that hard times mean nothing to a hen? She just keeps on digging worms and laying eggs, regardless of what the newspapers say about conditions. If the ground is hard, she scratches harder. If it's dry she digs deeper. If she strikes a rock, she works around it. But always she digs up worms and turns them into hard-shelled profits, as well as tender broilers. Did you ever see a pessimistic hen? Did you ever know of one starving to death waiting for worms to dig themselves to the surface? Did you ever hear one cackle because times were hard? Not on your life! She saves her breath for digging and her cackle for eggs."—Exchange.

Near-Sighted Lady Mistook Excited Child For Doll

The other day a kind lady took the minute, fuzzy-haired child of one of the Harmony Kings, a negro quartet, to a big London shop to buy him a present, says Mr. Melody in the Daily Sketch. While she turned to talk to an assistant she left the child, rigid and wide-eyed with excitement, sitting on a chair among the dolls. When she turned round again she was horrified to find a short-sighted old lady in consultation with another assistant. "What," she was asking, "is the price of this golliwog?" "It does not appear to be marked, madam," said the assistant, "I will go and inquire."

Four Good Habits

If Cultivated Will Help Greatly In Attaining Success

There are four good habits—punctuality, accuracy, steadiness, and despatch. Without the first of these time is wasted; without the second, mistakes the most hurtful to our own credit and interest, and that of others, may be committed; without the third nothing can be well done; and without the fourth opportunities of great advantage are lost, which it is impossible to recall.

Chinese Stowaways

Party Of Six Have Narrow Escape From Death When Vessel Is Fumigated

Efforts of six Chinese stowaways to enter Canada aboard the British freighter S.S. Benarty, failed when they reached New Westminster recently.

The sextette were fortunate to be alive after more than two weeks in a coal bunker aboard the ship, and especially after fumigation operations took place. By some chance deadly cyanide gas failed to reach the hold where the Chinese were hiding.

Officers who entered the hold declared it was a marvel they survived the ocean trip as it was probably worse than the famous "Black Hole of Calcutta." It was believed that Chinese members of the ship's crew kept their compatriots provided with food on the long trip.

After being arrested they were turned over to the Vancouver immigration authorities to await deportation.

Amended Grain Act

New Regulations Come Into Force On September First

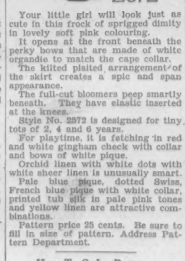

By a proclamation in the current issue of the "Canada Gazette," the Grain act as amended shall come into force on September 1.

The act was re-written following recommendations made by the agricultural committee of the House of Commons, and was passed last session. A lengthy investigation of the operation of the act was conducted during the last two sessions of parliament and numerous amendments were approved. Several grades were given new definitions, clauses were inserted to prevent mixing of grades and the whole field of the act's operations was reviewed.

OUT DOOR LIFE CALLS FOR NOURISHING FOOD

By AMY SMITH

Well Known Domestic Science Authority

Off for a day or a month—in the car or hiking, boating, fishing—after a few hours you will find FOOD looms up as the biggest thing in the world. Scenery, yes—but such appetites!

Of course milk, and plenty of it, is essential for nourishing, appetising food—and for campers or picnickers Borden's St. Charles Brand Evaporated Milk is by far the best choice, providing plenty of pure, rich milk, regardless of weather conditions, rough journeys, out-of-the-way camping places—and lack of ice.

Because Evaporated Milk has had half the water removed, you can rely on its extra richness, which can be utilized to take the place of eggs or butter in many kinds of cooking. For instance, an old guide, famous for his fish fries, told me that in camp he always dipped the fish in undiluted Evaporated Milk before the final coating with corn meal.

When Evaporated is to be used instead of milk in any recipe it should be diluted with an equal part of water. Remember this simple rule and you will find it successful in your own recipes. To "cream" your coffee, use it undiluted.

Speaking of Fish—

a "fry pot" is used by Canadian guides for cooking large chunks. After dipping the pieces of fish in Evaporated Milk and then in cornmeal drop into the deep fat (very hot) and fry until brown. And, by the way, take this hint from seasoned camp cooks—a very little fire of the right kind in the right place (if possible sheltered from the wind) will do the job better than a blistering conflagration.

A savory fish chowder is always a welcome dish in camp, and it's easily made with Evaporated Milk.

Fish Chowder

Cut the fish in chunks and remove as many bones as possible. Cover the bottom of an iron pot with slices of fat salt pork and fry out some of the fat. Remove part of the pork slices, then add a layer of sliced, raw potatoes, some sliced onions and a layer of fish. Cover with pieces of hard tack biscuit and season each layer, scanting the salt, for the pork is very salty. Repeat the process until the pot is two-thirds full, add just enough water to cover to level of the fish. Cover the pot and simmer for one and one-half hours, or until the potatoes and fish are tender. Add one tall can of Borden's St. Charles Milk. Bring just to boiling. Serve.

Easy Hot Breads

Hot corn breads to eat with the bacon, fish, or pork and gravy, are a huge success after a day in the open—or to begin the day.

Cornmeal Flapjacks

1 cup cornmeal.
1 cup flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
½ cup water.
2 tablespoons melted fat (bacon fat may be used).

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk, diluted with water, and beat well. Add the fat. Bake on a hot, greased griddle or frying pan. They need a little longer cooking than wheat griddle cakes.

Camp Corn Dodgers

Put one quart cornmeal into a bowl. Make a hollow in center of meal and into this put one tablespoon lard and one teaspoon salt. Pour over this equal parts Borden's St. Charles Milk and water heated to scalding point, stirring all the time until a spoon is covered which can be molded with hands. Cool slightly, form into cakes and cook slowly on a well greased griddle. (The quantity of diluted milk needed depends on the kind of cornmeal used.)

Lost Purse Is Found

Pocketbook Lost Eight Years Ago Is Recovered In Corn Field

A pocketbook containing $35 lost eight years ago, was recently recovered by the loser. Back in 1922 Jacob Slagh, a Michigan farmer, was assisting his brother-in-law, Peter Vanden Bosch, harvest hay and lost his pocket-book. Vanden Bosch while cultivating corn in the same field spied the purse, so were it fell open when handled. It was carefully kept together and brought to its owner who turned it over to the United States treasury department for redemption of the currency it contained.

Faster Planes

Commercial planes of the future will have to be considerably faster to suit Lieut. Alford J. Williams, American speed ace. "If 130 or 150 miles an hour were to be the top speed we could hope for in commercial aid transportation. I would suggest that the public cease to waste its time on aviation and that they hereafter look upon it as a hobby," he says.

Takes Brains To Be a Farmer

"It takes more brains to be a farmer than to be a High Court Judge," asserted J. Lockie Wilson, speaking at a gathering of Provincial fairs judges at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, recently. There never was a greater need for co-operation between the scientist and the farmer than today," he also stated; adding, "the most scientific business today is farming."

B.C. Hydro Possibilities

Greatest Water Powers In Canada Can Be Developed At the Coast

The greatest water powers in Canada, greater even than those harnessed along the St. Lawrence, have been revealed along the coast of British Columbia, north of Vancouver, by government engineers, during the past summer, it is stated at parliament buildings, Victoria.

Preliminary reports indicate that in addition to the noted Taseko Chilko Homathko power, with a possible development of 1,200,000 horsepower, two other sources of electricity discovered bring the possible development of the coast district up to the huge figures of 3,000,000 horsepower.

The two new power sites, revealed by recent surveys, are at Tahtsa Lake and Eutsuk Lake. By turning the waters of these lakes westward to the sea instead of eastward into the Fraser, engineers believe that 1,-800,000 horsepower can be harnessed. The third project calls for the diversion of the Chilko waters westward to the sea by the Homathko River.

Wheat Pool Elevators

Up to July 16, 1930, the percentage of Pool Wheat delivered to the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and passing through Pool Country Elevators amounted to 87.12 per cent. leaving only 12.88 per cent. as having gone through Line Elevators. The corresponding percentage of grain through Pool Elevators at the same date last year was 74.60 per cent.

A Strange Mongol Tribe

Have Qualities Of Wild Animals and Live In Caves

A tribe of wild men in North Manchuria, who never lie down, but always sleep sitting up with their feet crossed like Buddhas, so that they may rise and run in a second, is described by a correspondent of a Chinese newspaper. The correspondent claims to have visited the tribe.

The strange people are called Orunchuns, he declares, and they live in Kolombaich, North Manchuria. They are so primitive that they have no social organization, no chief or elders.

The men of the tribe, says the correspondent, have the qualities of wild animals. They can out-run foxes and wolves, and often overtake and kill such animals. They hunt like wolves in bands, and do not hesitate to attack Manchurian tigers.

They have no homes, but seek caves and sheltered parts of the mountains in which to sleep. They usually travel by day.

The correspondent says the Orunchuns have a spoken language entirely their own, with a very limited vocabulary, but no written language. They speak in low tones very agreeable to the ear, much resembling the twitter of birds.

In winter they wear the skins of wild animals which they have killed, but in summer go naked. They do not understand cooking, and tear and devour the flesh of animals. They understand the use of bows and arrows, which they get from Russians, but cannot make them for themselves.

It is very dangerous to go among them, the correspondent says, and they are known to have killed several travellers who were unduly curious to study their habits.

Muskrats For Scotland

Order Sent To Canada For Twenty Thousand Skins

Scotland knows a good thing when it sees it and has sent out a call for 20,000 Canadian muskrats of the finest type and color. The only joker in the Scotch demand is that they don't want the beastie on the hoof, but only want his hide. Practically 90 per cent. of all the fur coats made in Scotland today are of muskrat skins and the popularity of this type of fur is steadily on the increase.

Ontario Grain Pool

Announcement has been made by the Ontario Grain Pool that the initial payment to members is based on 65 cents per bushel for numbers two, three and four red, white or mixed wheat, and 29 cents per bushel for number two white oats and barley at maiting grade. With maximum deductions of local handling the payments net growers 60 cents and 25 cents.

Shortage Of Small Coins

French business men recently complained to the Ministry of Finance that there was an insufficiency of 50 centimes (approximately 2 cents) pieces in circulation and demanded a new stamp. The ministry estimates that there are 446,000,000 50 centime-pieces in circulation.

Feat Of Mountain Climbers

Eight Peaks Over Ten Thousand Feet High Are Negotiated

Eight peaks over 10,000 feet high, three of them unnamed, in the upper region of the Athabasca River and behind Maligne Lake, where the Canadian Alpine Club assembled at its annual camp, were reported to have been climbed for the first time with the return, after an absence of 17 days, of a party led by Dr. Max Strumia, of Philadelphia, and Dr. W. R. Hainsworth, of New York.

Accompanied by Newton Waffe, of Orange, N.J., and John F. Lehmann, of Everett, Mass., Strumia and Hainsworth first climbed Mount Christie, 10,180 feet high, from a high camp on Fryatt Creek. Later, climbing Mount Belanger, 10,200 feet in altitude, they were within 50 feet of being swept to their death by avalanches and on their descent were held for three hours on a rock ledge till the descending sun rendered snowslides improbable and their progress less hazardous.

An unnamed peak near Mount Wolley, whose altitude is placed at 10,700 feet, offered the greatest difficulty. Only by inserting "petons," — iron spikes to which they could attach their climbing rope—into the crumbling rock, were they able to attain its summit.

Climbing from the site of the Canadian Alpine club on Maligne Lake, they made the first ascent of three peaks of Mount Maligne, all over 10,000 feet in height, and mapped for the first time the tremendous ice fields surrounding it.

Dr. Strumia, who has climbed in Switzerland, France, Italy and North America, a total of 75 peaks and made 25 first ascents, said recently that during the trip just completed through Jasper Park he experienced some of the most difficult rock and snow work he has yet encountered. The party was outfitted by "Curly" Phillips.

CHAPTER XXIII.

If there had been any doubt that Wickfield would accept Doctor Howe's assistant, it was dispelled when he successfully removed Diantha Moore's appendix.

"And no wonder," the old doctor said to Grandma, a week after the operation. "There wasn't time to take the child to the hospital. There wasn't even time to get a nurse. It's no easy thing to perform an operation under such circumstances. I felt like cursing the deacon for his parsimony in not having had his house wired for electric lights; but I'll say for Luella that her lamp chimneys shone like nobody before; seen in heaven or on earth! And somehow, we did the job. The first week's past and no complications have arisen—except Edgar! He asked me tonight if they couldn't get along without the nurse we got from Portland the next morning."

"I presume that poor Luella will never hear the last of the expense," Grandma said, "but I shan't waste too much pity on her because she put her head into the noose with her eyes open. Well, Edward, it's a long time since I've seen you to have a talk. With a doctor right in the house I haven't bothered you when I had an ache or pain—not that I'll ever feel the same to any doctor that I do to you," she added loyally.

The old man smiled.

"I'm only a habit, Polly," he reminded her. "You can trust John Carter, take my word for it. It's going to be easier leaving you all when my time comes, knowing you're in good hands. It was a fortunate day for me when I brought him here."

"And fortunate for us, too, Edward. I don't know how we'd manage without him to tend the furnace now Charmian's away all day. But you mustn't talk about leaving us. Whether we send for you or not, it's a comfort to know you're here. Maybe I'll go first, Edward, and be on hand to greet you in the heavenly kingdom!"

"Perhaps you will," the doctor admitted, smiling, "but I hope not, Polly. I'd rather know that you were down here keeping watch over Wickfield from this window, and making a home for that dear girl of ours. I'd hoped to see her settled before I go, with some good fellow to take care of her. I had a method in my madness when I sent John Carter to board here, but so far as I know my hopes have borne no fruit!"

"I don't mind admitting—to you," responded Grandma, "that some such notion has occurred to me. They're congenial, and though he doesn't look over and above husky, I guess Charmian's strong enough to make up for anything he lacks. He's got a good disposition, and he's not fussy about his food. He's good to look at, too; but between you and me, Edward, I don't know what's keeping 'em apart unless it's Jimmy Bennett."

The doctor glanced up in surprise.

"I had an idea that all that was settled before Jim went to California."

"Then you guessed wrong," replied Grandma with decision. "What made you think so?"

"Something Jim said to me before he went. I thought that was what reconciled him to leaving Wickfield. Well, it's possible that I misunderstood; and I'm not rooting for my young doctor if it's going to hurt Jim Bennett, Polly; you can bank on that. I never knew a finer, cleaner chap than Jim."

"Well," said Grandma, "I suppose these young folks will have to settle it themselves, Edward. The best meaning friends and relatives are not much use at such a time. But it looks to me as if Jim was destined to spend his life picking peaches for his mother."

"I'd rather he picked one for himself, Polly!" said the old man whimsically. "As Edgar Purdie is fond of quoting: 'It is not good for man to live alone,' and no one realizes that truth better than I; I've had a happy life, and, I hope, a useful one; but I never come in after the day's work that I don't wonder how it would seem if Kate were there to greet me. No, I don't want either of those boys to live as I have."

"You'll come again soon?" asked Grandma wistfully, as her old friend picked up his shabby bag, and prepared to leave.

"Yes, I'll drop in often. From now on I'm going to take things easier and see more of the folks I really care for. Good-night, Polly. Give my love to Charmian."

He was as good as his word. As the relentless New England winter gave way to warmer days, Charmian became accustomed to finding the old doctor sitting with Grandma when she returned from school. Yet he had not given up his work by any means. There were still some who would have none of the younger man while they could get the old; there were others to whom his very presence meant so much that he could not forsake them; and there were the poor and lonely who needed no medicine save his cheery greeting.

Spring was coming. Its breath was in the air, spoils patches of snow that lingered tenaciously in shady places.

"I'm filled with a longing to clean house," said Charmian, coming in on the two old folks one afternoon. "Pussy willows are out, though I thought they'd never come; and the frogs are peeping."

She stooped to kiss her grandmother, and when the doctor said, "Haven't you another of those to spare, child?" she kissed him, too.

"You're to have supper with us, Doctor," she commanded. "We'll have a party—you and Grandma, and Doctor John and I. I've simply got to do something to celebrate the return of spring. I feel as if I could hardly wait for the first May flowers!"

"I'll stay," said the doctor, "Only don't make company of me, my dear."

"I want to make company of you," laughed Charmian. "I feel exactly like company. I shall get out the gold-banded china and use the Davis teapot though it's far too large. Here's John. If he's not too busy I'll make him help."

To judge from the voices and laughter issuing from the kitchen a bit later, the young man was not too busy to whip cream. Charmian mixed up some biscuits. She arranged her pussy willows as a centerpiece, and got out the very last of Grandma's precious damask to grace the board. It was a gay little supper. The old folks recalled the past to their heart's content, while the young folks listened and laughed and sympathized. The young people did their share of the talking, too; and their audience was fully as sympathetic. Even a telephone call to South Wickfield for Doctor Howe, did not mar the party.

"At least," said Charmian, "they let you finish supper!"

"And I'll go with you as chauffeur," declared John Carter, as the old man arose.

The doctor smiled happily at them all, and said: "I've had a beautiful time. Good-night, Polly."

He stooped, and with old-time gallantry kissed Grandma's hand; then turned to Charmian and kissed her cheek.

"There are compensations for being over seventy," sighed John Carter, and they all laughed.

"Good-night," said the old doctor again as he reached the door. "Sweet dreams to both of you."

Afterwards they remembered that he had stood for an appreciable moment looking back into the room, as if to impress the scene upon his memory. And that night, his day's work done and his house in order, the old man crossed the River, so gently, so peacefully, that he did not even know he had embarked.

CHAPTER XXIV.

All Wickfield, she thought, must be at the church, paying the last tribute of respect and love to its old physician. The bank was closed; and the schools, also. Charmian had begged to stay at home so that her grandmother need not be alone at this sad time; and Lizzie Baker had done likewise, "cars straggling unnoticed down her cheeks as she implored: "Please let me. You mustn't stay here by yourself."

Salina Knowles had said: "I'll stay with you, Grandma. The doctor wouldn't want you to be alone."

But Grandma, refusing all these kindly offers, had replied gently: "I'd rather be alone, if you don't mind. It's what I want."

Doubtfully, sorrowfully, they had turned away, to be reassured by the young doctor, who, even more than Charmian, understood the old lady's mood.

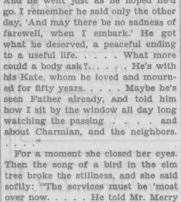

"Don't you see," he explained at sight of their troubled faces, "it'll be easier for her with no one by? She's not even as sad about it as we are. She knows that her old friend is not dead—he is 'just away.' Leave her alone."

So Grandma sat at the window, waiting. . . . .

"It's the sort of day that Edward always loved," she mused. "Spring's in the air, and summer's on the way. And he went just as he hoped he'd go. I remember he said only the other day, 'And may there be no sadness of farewell, when I embark.' He got what he deserved, a peaceful ending to a useful life. . . . . What more could a body ask? . . . . . He's with his Kate, whom he loved and mourned for fifty years. . . . Maybe he's seen Father already, and told him how I sit by the window all day long watching the passing . . . . and about Charmian, and the neighbors. . . . .

For a moment she closed her eyes. Then the song of a bird in the elm tree broke the stillness, and she said softly: "The services must be 'most over now. . . . . He told Mr. Merry once to make 'em short—for him. Just the Lord's prayer (he wanted every one to join in it, he said), and for Mr. Merry to read 'Crossing the Bar' . . . . not much more. . . . . It must be over now. . . . . Yes—they're coming. . . . ."

Canadian Women Score Again

Canadian Women Greatest Travellers In the Summer Months

Another distinction may be marked up for the women of Canada. Last year a British artist publicly declared that in his opinion Canadian women were the most beautiful of their sex in the British Empire, and of course the women throughout the Dominion did not dispute what Canadians generally consider to be such an obvious fact. Now Canadian women are credited with being greater travellers than the mere men of their country—in summer. In one of the leading Canadian newspapers the following item recently appeared:—"Canadian women are great travellers—in summer. When father is at home, tending to his work, mowing the lawn and keeping house alone, the wife and children go off to the seaside or the country and such movements constitute the bulk of the traffic.

"One of the big railway systems of Canada furnished a few days ago a two weeks' check on the sex of passengers in the height of summer travel. It was disclosed that eighty per cent. were women and twenty per cent. males. This disparity, however, does not exist all the year round. A similar check taken in winter disclosed about a fifty-fifty even break between the number of men and women travellers."

Drives Asthma Like Magic. The immediate help from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural remedy in a natural way. The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, banishes the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Canada Owes Much To Early Missionaries

Jesuit Fathers Opened North America To Civilization

The ceremony of canonization at Rome must make a deep appeal to all Canadians who are familiar with the early history of this country, regardless of whether or not they are members of the church that thus honored its devoted sons. The eight Jesuit fathers who nearly three centuries earlier than Confederation have been canonized played a great role in the opening to civilization of the northern half of this continent. No one can have read pages of Parkman without holding their memories in reverence. The story of their exploits and of their martyrdom is one of the most moving in the whole range of human annals.

The example that they gave was followed by a large company of other "soldiers of the cross" who carried religion and the influences that follow in its train further and further into the outlying parts of what is now the Dominion. Our debt to these pioneer missionaries is one that cannot be over-estimated.—Edmonton Journal.

Prince's Carpet Sold

A Scotch hand-woven wool carpet which covered the floor of Prince Charles Edward's bedroom at Culloden House, where he slept the night before the famous battle, brought only $150 at an auction sale in Glasgow, Scotland, recently. An ancient kail-pot, measuring 15 inches across, which was said to have been used by the Highlanders on the field of Culloden, was eagerly bid up and went for $70.

"What did they teach you today in Sunday school, son?"

"I learned how to say, 'Yes, ma'am,' and 'No, sir,' when answering questions."

"Did you, indeed!"

"Yup."

They Like Canada

Earl and Countess of Stair Favorably Impressed With Dominion

Laughingly reminding reporters who met them on their arrival a month ago, the Earl and Countess of Stair were both very ready to give their impressions of Canada, when interviewed at Montreal just before sailing for home on the Canadian Pacific "Duchess of Richmond."

"You will remember," Lady Stair said, "that we were afraid you were going to ask our opinion of the Dominion on the day we landed, and then let us off when we promised to give that at the end of the visit."

Both were enthusiastic about the Dominion, which they visited from coast to coast during their month's stay. "What really appealed to us more than anything," Lord Stair remarked, "was the hospitality of Canadians. By George, they don't care what it is you want, they jolly well get it done for you.

"One of our principal interests during the visit was to see the conditions under which the cattle we shipped out here are herded. And I must say that it was disappointed to see so many Holsteins and so few Scottish cattle. The Ayrshires we sent out to British Columbia last September are in remarkably fine shape."

During their visit to the coast, the Earl and Countess paid a visit to the Agricultural College at Vancouver, where they were shown prize-winning cattle also from their own Scottish estates.

In Memory Of Canadian Poet

Memorial Erected To Bliss Carman In Fredericton, N.B.

The house in Fredericton, N.B., where Bliss Carman, noted Canadian poet, was born, has been memorialized. A bronze tablet on the front of the house was recently unveiled. The inscription on the tablet reads:

"In this house Bliss Carman, Canadian bard and internationally loved poet, 1861-1929. This tablet is erected by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire in New Brunswick. 'Earth of my mother earth, spirit to Thee.'"

This is the first memorial erected to Bliss Carman, who died in Connecticut, June 8, 1929, and whose remains were brought to his native home by the Government of New Brunswick and buried at Forest Hill Cemetery, Fredericton, where a suitable monument will mark his grave. It is proposed to erect a statute of this famous son of New Brunswick in the capital of his native province and the city where he spent his boyhood days.

Mysterious Fossil Bones

Many Queer Catches Made By North Sea Fishermen

The barnacled tusk of a mammoth found in the nest of a Grimsby trawler, is but the latest of many queer catches made by North Sea fishermen. Not a few of the fishermen's gardens along the Norfolk coast are ornamented with fossil bones of the cave bear, elk, bison, rhinoceros, and mammoth, brought up at various times by the trawls, chiefly in certain regions about fifteen miles off Grimsby, sometimes called "the graveyards" or "the silver pits." Geologists suggest that the remains come from what was in prehistoric times the valley of the Rhine.

Sores Flee Before It.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. All similarly troubled should lose no time in trying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Work For Unemployed

Preliminary survey of the northern part of Saskatchewan, in connection with the provincial government scheme toward solution of unemployment, has been completed, said Hon. J. A. Merchant, Minister of Labor and Industries. The proposed camp scheme can now be inaugurated, he said, in co-operation with officials of the Prince Albert National Park. It has been decided 50 men may now be employed there cutting away dead and burned wood.

Unique Christening at Banff

A ceremony unique in the history of the Canadian Rockies was witnessed recently at the Banff Springs Hotel when Hilda Banff Rocky Mountain Goat, 24-hour-old Stony Indian papoose (inset) was christened in the courtyard of the hotel in the presence of around 500 guests and with A. H. Devenish, manager of the hotel, and Mrs. Devenish, acting as Godfather and Godmother. Left to right the group shows: Noah Rocky Mountain Goat, father; Mrs. Devenish, holding papoose; Mrs. Noah Rocky Mountain Goat, mother; and A. H. Devenish.
